5 Registration Policy

Any individual who attends any part of a meeting that is a scheduled part of the IEEE 802.1 May 2016 Interim Session must register for the full session and pay the required fees.

Please note: Attendees who elect to share accommodations must ensure that all members of the rooming party are listed on the hotel register before arrival or upon check-in at the hotel so that the hotel can verify their hotel stay.

The correct registration fee must be paid prior to receiving your badge, which permits entrance to scheduled meetings.

Registration is available through a secure website and requires a valid credit card for the payment of the registration fee; checks are NOT accepted for registration.

If you are not able to register for the session via the web for technical reasons, you must notify the Meeting Organizer prior to the cut-off date, to receive the corresponding registration fee.

Meeting registrations are not transferable to another individual or to another meeting.

10 Travel Information

10.1 Budapest International Airport (BUD) – Ferenc Liszt Airport

The Budapest International Airport (BUD) is open 24 hours a day 7 days a week and supports a number of regional and international carriers. For further information about the airport please explore the website:
<http://www.bud.hu/english>.

There are ATMs at the carousels at the baggage claim and at the arrival level in the landside waiting hall in both Terminal 2A and Terminal 2B:

http://www.bud.hu/english/passengers/shopping_and_gastronomy/services/atm-8166.html.

10.2 Getting to the Hilton Buda Castle Hotel from the Airport

Please use one of the official passenger transportation partners of Budapest Airport, i.e., either the officially appointed taxi company to service the airport (Főtaxi) or the official shared shuttle (MiniBUD). Strips on the floor lead to the booth of the official transportation companies from the carousels at the baggage claim.

As in all major cities, use caution and avoid taking a ride with strangers offering transfer to the city; DO NOT accept any ‘special offer’.

10.2.1 Taxi: Főtaxi

Főtaxi is the official taxi partner of Budapest Airport. From the carousels at the baggage claim, follow the strips with the sign “Főtaxi”, which lead you to the booth of Főtaxi on the left hand side after exiting of the airport terminal building through the revolving door. One has to order a taxi and give the destination address at the booth; and then get the appointed taxi waiting at the stand. Payment is to the driver at the destination (not at the booth). All cars are equipped with a POS terminal, they accept credit cards.

<http://fotaxi.hu/?Language=en#main-menu>

10.2.2 Shuttle: MiniBUD – Airport Minibus

MiniBUD is the official shuttle bus partner of Budapest Airport. MiniBUD provides a door-to-door shared ride from the airport to the city. Upon arrival, follow the strips to the booth of MiniBUD from the carousels at the baggage claim.

12.8 Weather

Budapest has a temperate continental climate with four seasons, warm summers and no dry season.

The month of May is characterized by rising daily high temperatures, with daily highs increasing from 19°C to 23°C over the course of the month, exceeding 29°C or dropping below 13°C only one day in ten. On the other hand, it may rain as May is one of the wettest months.

	Temperature [°C]			Precipitation [mm]	Sunshine [hours]
	Min	Medium	Max
May	12.1	16.6	21.9	62	234

12.9 Public Transportation

Most of Budapest's city center and historic districts are suitable for walking. There are pedestrian precincts in downtown Pest and traffic is restricted in the Castle Hill, so walking is probably the best way to get around. However, Budapest also has an excellent public transportation system: subways (metro) trams, trolley buses, buses, boats, and HÉV trains (suburban railway), which are operated by the Budapest Közlekedési Központ (BKK). Please explore their website for further information:

<http://www.bkk.hu/en/maps/>

<http://www.bkk.hu/en/tickets-and-passes/>

http://www.budapest.com/travel/getting_around/public_transport.en.html

When using public transportation, follow the passenger information notices, which are usually printed in English at the stops and on the vehicles. Validate your ticket in one of the orange boxes before starting your journey (before you get to the platform if travelling by Metro; and immediately after boarding buses, trams or trolley buses). Keep your ticket until the end of your journey and show it to inspectors on request. You have to validate another ticket every time you change lines.

12.10 Taxi

It is better to phone for a taxi from a reputable local company instead of hailing one in the street. When called, they are cheaper and there is no chance that you will pick up a 'private taxi' who may charge outrageous fares.

Cabs in Budapest are marked with the word "Taxi", often accompanied by a company name / logo such as "City Taxi". All taxi vehicles must be yellow and must have a yellow registration plate (as opposed to the white background on regular car plates). All taximeters are equipped with a receipt-printing function, displaying the fares charged and identification of the driver.

Ericsson is in contract with Budapest Taxi: <http://budapesttaxi.hu/en>. There is no discount price as the prices are regulated by law. When calling, tell them that you are a guest of Ericsson. Their phone number is 777-7777, which works with the area code of Budapest and the area codes of the mobile operators, e.g. +36-1-777-7777 or +36-30-777-7777.

Further information, e.g., on prices and on other taxi companies is available at: http://www.budapest.com/travel/getting_around/taxi.en.html.

12.11 Safety

Public safety is said to be good in Budapest on an international average. Nonetheless, you should follow the basic rules just like in any other big city, see e.g., <http://thesavvybackpacker.com/scams-safety-health-europe/>.

Some tips to Budapest: http://www.budapest.com/travel/in_emergency.en.html.

Further, do not let seemingly helpful taxi drivers or (seemingly) local women lure you to an establishment they recommend. They often receive a commission to recommend certain bars, clubs and restaurants to passengers; and your bill may be overpriced.

12.12 Smoking

In Hungary, smoking is banned in all enclosed spaces, including offices, restaurants and pubs, as well as on public transportation, in playgrounds, and in underpasses.

12.13 Tipping

For good service at a restaurant, a tip of 10% (or more) of the total bill (which includes VAT) is customary. Some restaurants add a service charge to the bill, especially in large groups, in which case further tipping is not expected. Tipping is also customary in bars, salons, and taxis.

13 Tourism Information

A lot of information is provided on various sites, e.g., <http://www.budapest.com/>, <http://welovebudapest.com>, or <http://gotohungary.com>. Some samples are collected here and at <http://www.ieee802.org/1/files/public/docs2016/admin-Budapest-ITU-info-0116.pdf>.

13.1 UNESCO Sites

In addition to Buda Castle, where the meeting is located, there are a number of UNESCO sites in the city: http://www.budapest.com/city_guide/attractions/world_heritage_sites.en.html, <http://welovebudapest.com/budapest.and.hungary/budapest.s.sites.on.the.unesco.world.heritage.list>.

For instance, one of the most beautiful parliament buildings of the world is worth a closer look or even a visit: <http://latogatokozpont.parlament.hu/en>.

There are more than 230 monuments in the city; there are a lot to see in addition to the UNESCO sites.

13.2 Museums

Museum lovers can also enjoy their visit, as the city and its immediate surroundings host more than 200 museums, see e.g.: <http://visitbudapest.travel/arts-entertainment/budapest-museums/>.

The Castle hosts some museums, e.g.:

National Gallery: <http://www.mng.hu/en>,

National Széchenyi Library: http://www.oszk.hu/en/permanent_exhibitions,

Telephony Museum: <http://www.postamuzeum.hu/en/>,

Military: http://www.budapest.com/city_guide/culture/museums/museum_of_military_history.en.html.

13.3 Music

Hungary has some important contributions to the field of classical music. Ferenc Liszt is probably the greatest of all Hungarian composers: a piano virtuoso (his contemporaries lauded him as the greatest pianist of all time) as well as a composer, inspiring forward looking contemporaries and even anticipating some ideas and trends that would only come in the 20th century. The beginning of the 20th century brought about two other exceptional characters: Béla Bartók and Zoltán Kodály both set out to collect Hungarian folk songs all over the Carpathian Basin and incorporate them into their music. Hungarian folk songs and dance are characteristic (<http://hungarianfolk.com/>). Like the ancient language, Hungarian folk music has maintained its basic structure through more than a thousand years of statehood in Central Europe. Kodály has also developed a world-renowned teaching method: <http://www.musicstaff.com/teaching-methods-kodaly-method>. Hungary has also produced Károly Goldmark, Ernő Dohnányi, and a number of internationally renowned conductors, pianists and violinists; a great one of our times is Félix Lajkó (<http://www.lajkofelix.hu/en>).

Opera has been also important in Budapest. There have been Hungarian opera singers among the best in the world, e.g., Éva Marton, Erika Miklósa, and Andrea Rost of recent times. The Budapest Opera House is one of the most beautiful neo-renaissance buildings in Europe, and it is considered to be amongst the best opera houses in the world in terms of its acoustics. Further tickets at e.g.: <https://www.jegymester.hu/eng/zene/Orchestra>.

13.4 Escape Room

You may consider trying one of the recent Hungarian inventions, an escape room, e.g.:

http://www.budapest.com/leisure/special_programmes/daytime_programmes/sweet_escape_-_escape_room_budapest.en.html, <http://www.bezarlak.hu/en/szobaink/vegas>.

13.5 Hike in the City

One can hike within the city, in the Buda Hills. Various paths can be taken on the well signed trails. It is easy to get there and back with public transport. A great spot is János Hill with the Elizabeth lookout for this view: <https://goo.gl/maps/1qpjtkliwez>.

(<http://welovebudapest.com/budapest.and.hungary/sights.1/janos.hill.elizabeth.lookout.tower>)

13.6 Spas

Budapest can be also referred to as the "City of Spas" because it has more thermal and medicinal water springs than any other capital city in the world.

(http://www.budapest.com/recreation_wellness/budapest_thermal_baths.en.html)

One may relax in one of the world's most beautiful spas, e.g.:

- <http://www.gellertbath.hu/> (www.eleconomista.es/evasion/tendencias/noticias/5441538/01/14/Las-cinco-piscinas-mas-impresionantes-del-mundo.html)

- <http://www.szechenyibath.hu/>

13.7 Near Budapest

Budapest's surroundings also offer lots of attractions. Right to the north of Budapest you'll find some exciting holiday spots starting with the charming Szentendre (<http://www.hungary-tourist-guide.com/szentendre.html>, <http://budapest.gotohungary.com/budapest-en/-/article/szentendre-skanzen>) with its cobble-stoned, crooked streets, and artistic atmosphere; and a great open air ethnographic museum: <http://www.skanzen.hu/en>.

The Visegrád Hill towers above the Danube bend providing a breathtaking view. Once having been a royal seat, Visegrád (<http://www.hungary-tourist-guide.com/visegrad.html>) is rich in historical and cultural sights: the former Royal palace, Solomon's tower. You can explore the natural beauties of the hill on meandering hiking tracks.

The imposing Basilica is the most famous attraction of Esztergom (<http://www.hungary-tourist-guide.com/esztergom.html>), a city on the Danube bank some 25 km from Szentendre.

There are scenic hikes in the Pilis Mountains, e.g., around Dobogókő (Pulsating/Beating Stone), which considered the hearth chakra of the Earth, e.g. by the Dalai Lama (<https://www.facebook.com/media/set/?set=a.471310312896415.119084.108146725879444&type=3>).

14 Food and Drink

14.1 Hungarian Cuisine

The traditional Hungarian dishes abound in piquant flavors and aromas. Dishes are flavorful and spicy. Flavors of Hungarian dishes are based on centuries old traditions in spicing and preparation methods. The exquisite ingredients are produced by local agriculture and husbandry. The fertile Hungarian plain and the favorable climate provide excellent conditions for growing tasty vegetables, fruits, and to raise domestic animals whose meat is savory. It is way much more than goulash. Hungarian cuisine provides great variety, which promises a lot of excitement for gastro-curious travelers. An example short list <http://edition.cnn.com/2013/11/22/travel/hungarian-food>, and a bit longer but still not complete list: <http://www.buzzfeed.com/anitabadejo/hungarian-foods-the-world-should-know#.qre2Y3rw2>. You can try some on the street or in a Michelin star restaurant.

The excellent fruits allow various kinds of use and processing, e.g., pálinka (<http://gotohungary.com/palinka>) and wine.

14.2 Hungarian Wine

Hungarian wineries are producing wines that are recognized at prestigious wine contests. The most successful wines are the classic varieties of cabernet sauvignon, cabernet franc and merlot along with the world-famous dessert wines of Tokaj (http://www.nytimes.com/2015/12/02/dining/tokaji-aszu-wine.html?_r=5), which are referred to as Vinum Regum, Rex Vinorum (http://www.royal-tokaji.com/wine_of_kings.php). You may consider sampling some, e.g. from the following lists:

<http://www.abouthungarianwine.com/news/hungarian-success-at-the-vinalies-international-wine-contest/>

<http://www.abouthungarianwine.com/news/hungarian-results-of-the-the-challenge-international-du-vin-2015/>

<http://www.abouthungarianwine.com/news/eighteen-gold-medal-was-awarded-to-hungary-in-bordeaux/>

One way to sample is visiting a wine bar, e.g., DiVino right next to St. Stephen's Basilica: <http://welovebudapest.com/clubs.and.nightlife.1/bars.1/divino>.

The closest wine store to the meeting venue is: http://www.bortarsasag.hu/en/wine_stores/lanchid.

14.3 Central Market

The biggest market hall of the city, the Központi Vásárcsarnok (Central Market or Great Market Hall), stands right next to the Pest-end of the Liberty bridge. This market hall is one of the biggest and most gorgeous ones in Europe (<http://travel.cnn.com/europes-amazing-city-markets-354731>). The building also has some architectural significance with Hungarian ornaments and neo-gothic touch. The metal roof structure is still the original, and the roof is covered with decorative tiles made by the world-renowned Zsolnay porcelain manufacture. Nowadays, the market hall is a real tourist paradise, where you will more likely find fresh local delicacies, fruits, vegetables, wines, spirits, salamis and meat products (straight from the producers) than typical souvenirs. You can try local dishes as well, like lángos (<http://welovebudapest.com/cafes.and.restaurants.1/get.the.dough.savor.budapest.s.best.langos>, with cheese & sour cream is a classic one) in one of the buffets or restaurants on the upper storey.
