Welcome to Stuttgart

Welcome to Stuttgart

- Unfortunately, due to COVID-19, the planned IEEE 802.1 Interim Meeting in September 2020 in Stuttgart can not take place face to face
- Hirschmann would like to offer to move the face to face interim meeting in Stuttgart to September 2021 instead
- The Location would (most likely) stay the same
- Fees and hotel room cost might vary slightly but are expected to be in the same ball park as in the September 2020 offer

Getting to Stuttgart

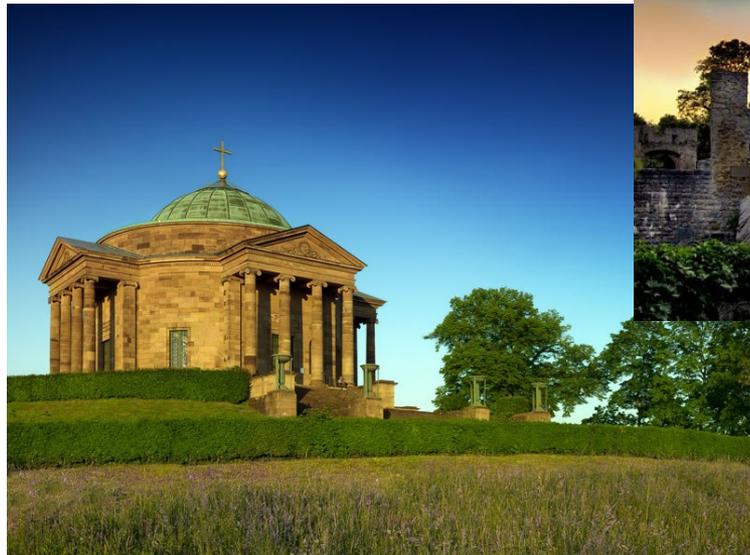

Stuttgart can be easily reached

- by plane:
 - The Stuttgart airport offers a few direct transatlantic flights
 - There are frequent flights to Stuttgart from large international airports like London, Frankfurt or Munich
 - This allows Stuttgart to be easily reached by air
- by train:
 - The Hauptbahnhof Stuttgart is ranked 8th in the list of the most frequented long-distance railway stations of the Deutsche Bahn. With a daily count of 1280 train stops it offers an easy way to get to Stuttgart by public transportation
 - Getting to the Stuttgart main station from the airport
 - takes about 30 minutes by S-Bahn
 - trains run every 10-20 minutes
 - A good way to get to Stuttgart is to fly into Frankfurt and then take the train from Frankfurt directly to Stuttgart central station
 - I was informed that there will be construction under way on the train tracks in September 2020 so the connection from Frankfurt to Stuttgart might be limited – please take a look at the information from DB on available connections
- by car:
 - Stuttgart is located very close to the highways A8 and A81, allowing for easy and comfortable travel to Stuttgart by car
 - ...however, traffic in and out of Stuttgart during rush hours is awful and should be avoided

Sights around Stuttgart

The area around Stuttgart offers quite a lot of interesting sights and things to do. Amongst them are castle ruins, historic castles...

Sights around Stuttgart

... and interesting museums (i.e. Staatsgalerie Stuttgart, Mercedes-Benz Museum, Porsche Museum, and others)
