University Outreach Day Tuesday July 17, 2012

The objective of the IEEE 802 university outreach program is to expose both students and faculty of universities, which are close to IEEE 802 plenary session sites to the IEEE 802 standards process so that they may: [1] increase their understanding of the important role that standards play within the various fields of engineering technology, [2] feel more comfortable in the future participating in the standards development process during their academic careers or subsequently as practicing engineers, [3] encourage participation in the IEEE Standards Education Committee programs such as applying for grants for Student Application Papers on topics applying to Industry Standards, and [4] help to create interest in including the study of standards in engineering in their academic curriculum.

The day will start with an orientation session of about one hour. IEEE 802 University Outreach students and faculty attendees are then free to observe meetings in progress so long as there is adequate space in the room. A list of meetings recommended for Outreach observers (a self-guided tour) will be supplied by the Working Groups. The day will end with a closing session to provide the opportunity for IEEE 802 University Outreach participants to ask questions about what they have observed.

Registration Fee: $25.00 US

Registration Limit: 30 Students and or Faculty, valid student/faculty identification required.
